

ABSTRACT

The invention provides a composite film for sealing with a substrate (2), a primer layer (3) and at least one extruded functional layer (6). Such a composite film for sealing is improved with a view to suppressing migration in that between the primer layer (3) and the extruded functional layer (6) an extruded barrier layer (4) is provided which prevents at least the migration of components of the primer layer (3) and/or of the functional layer (6).